Assembly:

You are making 2 of these posts.

The black piece should be out of cardstock and used as your base to create the post.

Recommend: using vinyl for the purple and yellow pieces, but for the brave in heart, you can use paper.

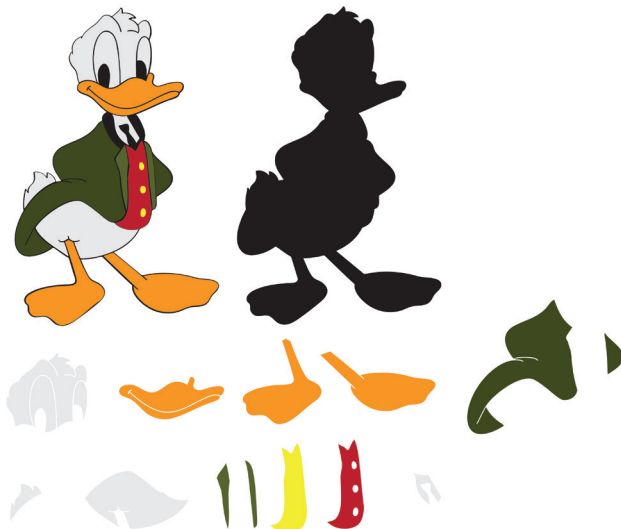

Room for One More Title:

Recommend: Use vinyl for all of the text and use cardstock for the backing piece (white)

2025:

You can cut both of these pieces out of paper and should be ok.

Recommend: Use Intricate Cut setting on Cricut when cutting.

Using the black background piece (cut from black cardstock) start laying the pieces in order as shown - like a puzzle piece - the edges all around should be the same distance.

Note: The red vest piece lays on top of the yellow piece so I would make sure that if you go with paper that you make both pieces paper - or make both vinyl.

These gargoyls are made from black cardstock

They are going to be layed on the 2 6x12 pieces (they will extend past the paper so they will need to be trimmed off and the trimmed piece will be added to the center 12x12 sheet. See Image below.

Only important thing here is that the ghost will need either a white gel pen or little dab of white paint for his eyes.

Make sure hand layers go above the raining and definitely size where Mickey and photomat will fit before gluing to the background of buggy and putting on front of buggy -

Scrappers may want to wait to put front of buggy on until photo is added.

Also - they can add hands to the railing once everything is placed in right spot.

Layering same as other pieces - read from left to right in order of laying them down - may make it easier.
